Latest Addition: Yasya Prasada Bhagavat Prasado - December 24, 2004 My personal story how I came to Krsna Consciousness

Bhakti-Vedanta Pur [Bhakti-Vedanta City] -

The beginning of a complete presentation on developing a true and actual Self-Sufficient functioning Vedic Village - farming - Community.

A detailed outline of the community's development plans. The complete civil engineering will be presented, as well as the social engineering. How it will function, both in practical terms of types of occupations - how members of the community will earn their livelihoods - as well as the social cultural and social standards or social structure as well. Why it is needed and why the modern society is inferior. Schools and how they are to be structured. As well as the governing of the village community.

Of course I will be open to input from others, but, I have a keen vision of what I want the community to be, and how it must be developed - which is the result of much contemplation on the topic for many decades. It is time to start putting all that planning and thinking to work and start working seriously toward doing it.

The point of this presentation will be to interest people both currently within ISKCON and also currently outside to donate the needed funds to create the first functioning working model community. The first community (communities) will need to also include exhibits, etc.

This is a most important project - and my time is limited right now, but please stay tuned. Donations toward this project are always welcome. A Trust-Fund account will be opened and donations will be able to be made toward that fund. A full account would then be posted on the web detailing where those funds go. - Stay tuned - but progress will be slow at first due to my lack of time to dedicate toward this.

Tell me what you like or not like. I enjoy discussing Varnashram, dharma, marriage, and things like that (from Guru-Sadhu-Shastra and my realizations and perspective - no doubt).
Feel free to ask questions, or discuss a point.

I first put this website up in Oct of 1996 under kgrafx (a website under earthlink) (I did computer graphics work under kgrafx and krsna-grafx).

~ 1999 moved it to futuresunltd.com/sudarshan (futuresunltd.com was a financial investment business I ran).

In June of 2004 we setup our new home @ "16108".

I have never had all that much time to do very much with my site since it's inception in 1996. I hope to change that (someday).
